SRI B. BASAVALINGAPPA.—During 1973-74 Rs. 10 lakhs had been provided for the construction of houses in the rural areas. Actually 1481 were taken up and at the close of the year 243 houses were completed. During 1974-75, 21,000 houses have been sanctioned; only 13,000 houses have been taken up and only 8077 houses have been completed. May I know the reason why all the money provided during these years had not been spent?

[†] SRI M. Y. GHORPADE.—It is true in the year 1973-74 we had provided Rupees 5 crores in the budget and we had taken up construction of 14,000 houses. As the whole house knows in the year 1973-74 there were severe cuts both in plan and non-plan expenditure. During the year 1974-75 the financial position of the State had suffered on account of drought. To remiad the House, we spent about Rs. 60 crores for drought reliefs and we got only Rs. 40 crores from the Centre and therefore that burden of Rs. 20 crores was there on the State.

plus the normal deficit in the budget. We had to make up Rs. 40 crores during the year 1973-75 and this was done by cutting plan and non-plan expenditure severely in consultation with the Planning Commission. From non-plan cut we made up Rs. 20 crores and Rs. 9 crores from plan cut, and there was budget receipt of about Rs. 13 crores. And this is how we managed to meet this Rs. 40 crores, out of which Rs. 25 crores went to drought. In this severe financial situation in the year 1973-74 it was possible to provide only Rs. 85 lakhs towards the housing programme and out of this Rs. 10 lakhs were spent on experimental houses.

1-30 P. M.

The programme of 1973-74 of 14,000 houses took some time to start because we had to decide about the type of houses to be built. These in this process the first half of the year elapsed and in the later half cuts were effected. Therefore, only Rs. 85 lakhs was spent. However, for the 14,000 houses that were started in 1973-74 full provision to complete those houses was made in the budget of 1974-75, and as I have stated in my reply about Rs. 2-35 crores, which was required to complete these houses, were provided in 1974-75. The hon. member has also asked about the second series of houses. Therefore, I would like to make the position clear. Out of the 14,000 houses which were started in 1973-74, 13,270 houses have been completed. So far as the second series is concerned, in my reply I have stated that out of 21,000 houses started in December 1974, about 7,200 houses are reported to have been completed in December 1975, and all the Deputy Commissioners have assured us that a bulk of these 21,000 houses will be completed during the current year. Therefore, by the end of this current year we would have 14,000 of the first series and a bulk of the 21,000 in the second series of houses completed. In addition to this we have taken up 17,000 houses in October 1975-Gandhi Jayant Day—at the rate of 100 houses per taluk and for these houses also we have provided adequate funds. We shall provide Rs. 800 per house for the third series of houses also and the balance of the amount for the third series of houses will be definitely provided in the current budget. To clear the confusion that might be in the mind of the hon. member, I would repeat that the amounts spent on Housing so far is as follows.—

1973-74	...	Rs. 85 lakhs
1974-75	...	310 lakhs
1975-76	...	460 lakhs
Total	...	855 lakhs

So, we have already spent Rs. 855 lakhs so far, and the money which has been provided is adequate to complete all these houses. The only thing is that the houses started in 1973-74 got delayed in completion because the programme was just beginning—we started the programme rather late and the full amount could not be provided in 1973-74 for reasons which are known. However, full amount has been provided not only for 14,000 houses of the first series, but also for the 21,000 houses of the second series that were started. Therefore in Karnataka, we have taken up 52,000 houses consisting of first, second and third series. Of these, 14,000 houses of the first series and 21,000 houses of the second series are expected to be completed by the end of this year, and a few houses in the third series also would be completed during next year. Therefore, the hon. member and the House should appreciate that inspite of the very difficult financial situation we made a bold and imaginative beginning primarily as a result of the lead given by the Hon'ble Chief Minister when I prepared the budget in 1973-74. We introduced this scheme in the Budget of 1973-74, and inspite of difficulties we have not only been able to complete these houses but progressively enlarged the 'People's Housing Programme'.

SRI B. BASAVALINGAPPA.—I am very sorry that my friend the Hon'ble Minister is of the view that I was confused. I feel he is confused and confounded. It was stated that on account of financial stringency they could not spend the amount during 1974-75. He further stated that the same situation continued during 1974-75. If that be the case no money could have been provided in the budget. According to him Rs. 2 crores and odd was provided to complete the incomplete houses and Rs. 1 crore for additional houses, which means that 12,000 houses would have been completed. But according to the figures furnished, only 8000 houses have been completed. But it was stated that 13,000 houses have been completed. My straight question was, having provided the necessary funds, why the amount was not spent. Madam Speaker, I want to know who is wrong and who is right, and who is confused?

SRI M. Y. GHORPADE:—We might release the entire amount to the Deputy Commissioners concerned. The poor man has to do Rs. 500 worth of work by himself. If there is a few months delay between the release of money and completing the houses, it is not all surprising. It is a fact that out of 14,000 houses we have completed 13,270 in December 1974. It is a fact that we did release Rs. 2-10 crores in April-June 1974 towards the completion of these 14,000 houses. It is a fact that we did release Rs. 1 crore in December 1974 for commencement of the second series of houses. It is also a fact that we released Rs. 3.2 crores to complete the second series of 21,000 houses, and it is also a fact that in October 1975 and January 1976 we released Rs. 1.40 crores towards the third series of houses. Therefore, all the houses started could not be completed. There were spillover works also. Therefore, there is no contradiction in the statement made. It only means that the Deputy Commissioners took a little more than a year to complete all these houses.

This is what we bad done and it is consistents with the poverty in rural India. In dealing with these problems we should not be petturbed by urban standards of construction.

SRI B. BASAVALINGAPPA.—May I know whether the Hon. Minister would speed up this scheme so that atleast 1/5 or 1/8 of the population could be covered each year ?

SRI M.Y. GHORPADE.—This is a good point. It is a fact the rate at which we have been completing these houses has gone on increasing. The tempo has now picked up because the Deputy Commissioners, the B.D.Os and the people have get used to this scheme. There is no doubt the number of houses we will be completing each year would be much larger than the number during previous years. The very fact we would be completing something like 20 to 30 thousand houses by the end of this year, which would be an average of about 10 crores of houses per annum taking three years together is itself a great achievement. I am sure this could be improved further in the years to come.
